

2

Thursday, September 18, 2014

Writer's PLAYground workshop and competition

SPEED Youth (the youth development department of SPEED) is hosting a three-day creative writing workshop and competition called "Writer's PLAYground" in the next two weeks.

It should be an effective platform for students to learn tips and tricks of writing innovatively and imaginatively, and develop their powers of storytelling. The workshop will give students of classes I-VI an opportunity to showcase their talents in writing and creative expression, and to win a trophy for their school.

The students will get an opportunity to venture into a new story -- tell tall tales, solve mysteries, or rewrite classic fairy tales. The SPEED workshops will help them prepare to explore the mysteries of the universe by writing on their own.

With Lyra, Bijoy Software, Burger Bar and Boi Bichitra sponsoring the event, SHOUT will be the media and communications partner and will publish the winners' stories in its Fable Factory section. Do keep a look out for the interesting creative pieces written by these young writers.

SPEED Youth is a leading youth development initiative in Bangladesh focused on promoting the physical, educational, and life skills necessary to prepare and empower young people aged 8-18 to undertake leadership roles in their communities and to bring success in their personal lives. Visit www.speed-bd.com or www.facebook.com/SPEEDyouth to learn more.